

Why should I become a Doctoral (Associate) Member of ANZAM?

In short, ANZAM offers added value to your time as a PhD student/candidate. It helps you by delivering information and knowledge for improving your thesis, it fosters your professional development by tendering doctoral awards, presentation opportunities and providing information about career opportunities, and gives you access to an international network of academics and business professionals.

ANZAM Awards: We support your work and career by awarding prizes to outstanding dissertations, conference papers, and conference reviews.

ANZAM Colloquia: We encourage conference attendance and publishing by offering colloquia that bring together senior academics and doctoral students for a joint discussion and development of publishable articles.

ANZAM Doctoral Workshops: Our doctoral workshops include seminars about all aspects of PhD life and professional development opportunities. This includes independent feedback to your PhD thesis, networking among peers, faculties and practitioners, information about career development inside and outside of the academic world, presentation for successful reviewing, and much more.

ANZAM Newsletters, Website and Facebook: We regularly inform our members about new vacant positions at universities throughout the world, provide academic news for Australia and New Zealand, new publications, call for papers, scholarships, etc. Our website contains recent information on ANZAM activities, workshop and conference registration, programmes, etc.

ANZAM Network: We offer the largest network in Australia and New Zealand with more than 40 member organisations and, in addition, over 600 individual members. We offer an annual conference, workshops, seminars, symposia, and colloquia to provide network opportunities.

ANZAM Publication: Our Journal of Management & Organization offers the opportunity for high-level publishing as an international recognized and peer-reviewed journal for timely publication of research, scholarship, educational and practitioner perspectives on management-related themes and topics.
