Early Career Academic Workshop

Thursday 24 September 2015: 09:00-12:30

Hosted by Griffith Business School

Location: The Chancellery (G34), Meeting Room 1.05,
Griffith University, Gold Coast Campus (map attached)

Overview

Early Career Academics (ECAs) are facing an increasingly competitive context in the Australian higher education sector. Pressures to publish and increasingly long hours of teaching in Business faculties make career progression a very complex and difficult task.

This workshop is open to early career academics and PhD candidates close to graduation. It combines an exciting program of workshops and a panel tailored around teaching, research and career building, and provides an opportunity to meet and network with other ECA and more senior colleagues.

The panels are composed of senior academics from the ANZAM Board and the Griffith Business School who will share their expertise, experience, and advice with participants.

Topics that will be discussed in the workshop include:

- Issues for Early Career Academics
- Developing a research strategy and portfolio
- Developing a teaching portfolio
- Building professional networks
- Career progression and understanding universities

Who should attend?

- Early Career Academics and PhD candidates close to completion
- ANZAM members and non-members all welcome
