VENUE LOCATION

UQ Business School is independently ranked as one of the top business schools in Australia and amongst the leading institutions worldwide. Situated on the idyllic Brisbane River, the St Lucia campus is one of the world's most stunning campuses. Being seven kilometers from the Brisbane CBD, travelers can take the City Ferry from UQ to see a breathtaking view of the City.

DOCTORAL SESSIONS

There are two types of sessions at the ANZAM doctoral workshop: 1) Roundtable Discussion Sessions, and 2) Pitch Presentations. Prizes will be awarded for the best submissions in the two sessions, with the former being sponsored by ANZAM and the latter by the UQ Business School. To enter either (or both) sessions, you must send your respective submission(s) via email to the ANZAM Academy Manager (anzam@griffith.edu.au) along with your completed Registration Form by 7 October 2016.

Roundtable Discussions Sessions	Pitch Presentations Session
The Roundtable sessions are an opportunity to present your work in a roundtable setting. You will also gain feedback from other students working in similar areas and several senior academics. Please note that you will need to include with this application a separate written submission to apply and this will be circulated to both the students and academics at your table in advance. On the day you will have about 5 minutes to orally present your work, and then 15 minutes to engage in a discussion that will be led by the academic chair/co-chair at your table.	The Pitch presentations allow you to “pitch” and present your research proposal to the doctoral workshop attendees including senior academics. To enter the Pitch competition, you will need to complete a prescribed 2-page template that provides a simple, methodical tool to confidently and succinctly “pitch” essential elements of a new research proposal to an academic expert. The Pitch enhances the success of your research proposal from its early stages. For more explanations of the pitching template and its use, please see Faff (2015)’s SSRN paper on “ Pitching Research ”
Submission Guidelines (7 October 2016 Deadline)
If you wish to present your work at a Roundtable Session you must include a written submission with this application. The submission guidelines and pre-formatted template document can be found at: Roundtable Submission Guidelines	To present your Research Pitch you must complete and submit a 2-page template related to your thesis research with this application. The submission guidelines and pre-formatted template document can be found at: Pitch Submission Guidelines
