

ANZAM

AUSTRALIAN & NEW ZEALAND
ACADEMY OF MANAGEMENT

Professor Véronique Ambrosini
Department of Management, Monash University

Véronique Ambrosini is a Professor of Management (Strategic Management) at Monash University (Australia) and an honorary Professor at Birmingham Business School (UK). She is the current leader of the International Business and Strategic Management group. She was previously a Professor of Strategic Management at the University of Birmingham and at Cardiff University (United Kingdom). She started her career at Cranfield School of Management (United Kingdom) where she gained her PhD.

Her research is conducted essentially within the resource-based and dynamic capability view of the firm and takes a strategy-as-practice perspective. Her articles have been published in internationally recognized academic journals such as Journal of Management Studies, British Journal of Management, Long Range Planning or Human Relations and practitioner oriented journals such as European Management Journal and Management Decision. She is the author of 'Tacit and ambiguous resources as sources of competitive advantage', the editor of 'Exploring techniques of analysis and evaluation in strategic management' and a co-editor of 'Advanced strategic management: A multi-perspective approach'.

Véronique is a former associate editor of the British Journal of Management and of the Journal of Management & Organization. She serves on the editorial board of the Journal of Management Studies, Academy of Management Learning and Education, British Journal of Management, Journal of Management Education, International Journal of Human Resource Management and of the Organization Management Journal. She is a past council member of the British Academy of Management and past chair of the Strategic Management Society Strategy Practice track.