FROM THE PRESIDENT’S DESK

It is a great honour and privilege to be the ANZAM President for 2017. I am looking forward to working with the ANZAM Board and Manager to best serve the Academy and its members.

Thank you to everyone who attended the ANZAM Conference in Brisbane this year. I hope you found the environment friendly and warm, and enjoyed catching up with friends and colleagues, as well as making new connections. I hope you were able to spend time discussing new ideas, getting feedback on your own research, and sharing experiences as management academics and professionals.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank the many people who contributed to making ANZAM 2016 a success. Hosting the annual ANZAM Conference is a very large task. Professor Rowena Barrett and the QUT School of Management provided enormous support, both in terms of time and resources. I also thank the members of the Organising Committee for their help, including Dr Muhammad Ali, Dr Adelle Bish, Dr Tim Donnett, Dr Deanna Grant-Smith, Dr Judy Matthews, Dr Glen Murphy, Professor Susanne Royer, and Dr Anna Wiewiora. They have each made a significant and unique contribution to the organising of the Conference, I thank them for so generously offering their time, ideas, and enthusiasm. Importantly, I also acknowledge the Stream Chairs as they do a very important task behind the scenes to ensure the academic quality of the program. Plans are well under way for the 2017 ANZAM conference at RMIT (6-8 December). The theme will be Creative Disruption: Managing in a Digital Age.

Also doing a superb job was ANZAM Doctoral Representative Hieu Nguyen from the UQ Business School. He and his team organised a wonderful Doctoral Workshop, which was attended by around 85 doctoral students. Thank you to the UQ Business School for supporting this workshop. It is great to see the enthusiasm of the students, and the support provided by their universities to participate in this event.

Our ANZAM Board is comprised of 2 elected members from each of 5 regions, plus a Presidential triumvirate: President-Elect (Lee Di Milia); President (Lisa Bradley); Immediate Past President (Kate Kearins). This ensures there is good representation on the Board from all regions, as well as consistency in leadership as Presidents transition in and out. All positions on the Board are voluntary, and I would like to thank all members for their efforts. I would like to thank Martin Grimmer, who has just left the Board after seven years, including a year as President, and being Conference Chair in 2013. He has made an immense contribution to ANZAM and we will all miss him. I would also like to thank Tim Bentley, Andrei Lux, and Maryam Omari who are leaving the Board as well. I welcome Kerry Brown, Martie-
Louise Verreynne, Tui McKeown, Cameron Duff (2017 Conference Chair) and Ed Hyatt (Doctoral Rep) to the Board for 2017.

Kate Kearins has been an impressive President for 2016. They are big shoes to fill and I thank her for her work this year. Lee Di Milia will follow me in 2018 as ANZAM President. Our Board works through four Committees: Education, Membership, Research, and Systems. We are a member organisation and endeavour to provide what members want.

The final acknowledgement needs to go to Anne Anderson, the Academy Manager. Anne provides continuous and unfailing support to ANZAM, ensuring the big things, as well as details, are taken care of. She is there from year to year, President to President, ensuring that no matter what we do, ANZAM still runs smoothly! She goes well above and beyond the call of duty, and does it with an amazing sense of good humour – well needed on some days, I can tell you. A huge vote of confidence and appreciation goes to Anne.

Board meetings will be held in 2017 in Sydney, Brisbane, Auckland, and Melbourne. We will hold ECA workshops and practitioner breakfasts in various regions throughout the year. This is as well as the many other ANZAM activities that happen every year. Keep in mind 1 July submitting your ANZAM 2017 paper, having a very enjoyable and safe end of year celebration, and all the best for 2017.

Professor Lisa Bradley
ANZAM President 2017

JOURNAL OF MANAGEMENT & ORGANIZATION (JMO)

Visions of the future? Part of a three-year strategy for JMO

The hard work of raising discoverability has been done by outgoing JMO Editor-In-Chief, Professor Tim Bentley. The increase in the profile of the journal as far as listing on Scopus and other major databases is already seen and can be expected to have a lasting positive impact. As incoming EIC, the bar has been set high and what can you do after someone has been so good? The answer is to find a challenge and (luckily?), we seem to have a good one as there now seems to be the need to develop a ‘brand strategy.’ Given the current academic obsession with top-ranked, tier 1 journals, it is going to be a hard battle for JMO to get it to this level – but as the richness and wealth of papers presented at ANZAM 2016 shows, we already have the ability to do something different and we are already creatively leading a challenge to the homogeneity that this narrow focus is (inadvertently?) creating.

Part of my vision then is that we promote high quality research (using the full range of research methods as appropriate) to challenge and question established wisdoms, offer alternatives, and generally become the thought leader and champion for a view of management which is ethical, sustainable, academically rigorous, and socially inclusive.

Part of this would be an explicit statement and “crossing and challenging the borders” theme? To develop these notions of rigor and inclusivity further, there could be a section/s of the journal specifically for:

- Emerging researchers
- Emerging areas and types of research
- Thought pieces from industry, political leaders – not necessarily meeting standard academic requirements for refeeding (a different way to engage a wider audience, and demonstrate impact and a point of differentiation)
• Questioning/review of prior research – so papers would explicitly outline to prior research and how they add to or question it, and why this is important

• Interdisciplinary approaches to management issues

Our outgoing EIC is leading the charge on this (you just can’t keep a good person down, can you?). Tim will be heading up a group developing a special edition which will hopefully become part of an annual ANZAM Conference JMO gala launch.

This is part of the aim to make JMO the only journal we want to write our papers for, that challenge and provide thought leadership, but that we can use in teaching and where we can also engage with industry, politicians, and the wider community of management.

2016 CONFERENCE – BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA

As Chair of the 30th Australian and New Zealand Academy of Management Conference, I would like to take this opportunity to thank each delegate for their participation and engagement. The Conference is a success in large part due to delegate enthusiasm and contribution. I hope you arrived home safely and with positive memories from the Conference.

The Doctoral Workshop set a great tone for the start of the Conference, beginning early on 6 December with around 85 doctoral participants, numerous experienced academics, and several keynote speakers. Huge congratulations to Hieu Nguyen and his team at the UQ Business School for organising such a great Workshop.

The Conference attracted around 480 delegates, of whom around 100 were from countries other than Australia and New Zealand. The Conference theme was “Under new management: Innovating for sustainable and just futures” which encouraged some interesting presentations and practices. We introduced the ANZAM Conference App for the first time, and eliminated printing full abstracts in the proceedings. Water bottles were supplied in an endeavour to reduce the use of plastic cups, or washing of glassware. The chosen caterer supplied excess food to local charities where possible. These practices help us start a move toward more sustainable Conference activities. The four keynotes also addressed the theme, although each in different ways. Ms Julieanne Alroe, CEO of Brisbane Airport Corporation, talked about ways BAC were introducing innovative and sustainable practices. Professor Mary Uhl-Bien discussed current academic and management practices and raised questions about their sustainability. Professor Steffen Boehm presented us with ideas about carbon fetishism, and Professor Ian Lowe challenged us with how we are currently treating our planet, and how we might go about doing it better.
If you have forgotten anything from the Conference (or want to see what you might have missed out on!), you can still look back at the many photos and comments on the ANZAM App. This was a great success due to so many people adding their comments, pictures, quotes and other interesting bits of information from the Conference. Congratulations to the winner of the #ANZAMsocial challenge – Georgia Hay, PhD Candidate from UWA. Congratulations also to the highly commended runners-up including: Christina Turner (QUT), Rajiv Ranjan (IIM Ahmedabad), Ezaz Ahmed (CQU), Borhan Bhuiyan (Massey), and Jesse E Olsen (Uni Melb).

We at QUT School of Management are proud to have hosted the 30th Annual ANZAM Conference. On behalf of the Organising Committee (Rowena Barrett, Muhammad Ali, Adelle Bish, Tim Donnett, Deanna Grant-Smith, Judy Matthews, Glen Murphy, Susanne Royer, and Anna Viewiora, and Claire Vaz and Gabi Hunter from QUT Conferences), I wish you all the very best for 2017 and look forward to meeting you again at RMIT for ANZAM2017!

2017 CONFERENCE – MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

RMIT University: 6-8 December 2017

Creative Disruption: Managing in a Digital Age

RMIT University is hosting the 2017 ANZAM Conference in Melbourne – the world’s most liveable city. Come and join us for great food, fabulous weather, scintillating discussion, and a truly Australian welcome.

The Conference will be held in RMIT’s award winning Swanston Academic Building – home of the College of Business and right in the centre of the city.

More details will be available early in 2017, but mark it in your diary now!

DOCTORAL MATTERS

As one of the two Doctoral Student Representatives on the ANZAM Board of Directors, it was my privilege to run the Year-End Doctoral Workshop earlier this month – a great success by all accounts.
Please allow me to first extend my deepest gratitude to the ANZAM Research Mentors, academic presenters, and Roundtable Session chairs who generously volunteered their knowledge, time, and energy to bring the event to fruition.

The Doctoral Workshop attracted 90 student registrants, with 47 of those presenting their work during the Roundtable Sessions. The program this year focused on discussion and the sharing of key insights; a format that was both effective and well-received. We were delighted to see such tremendous enthusiasm during these discussions and we would like to thank all the delegates, who had surely spent a great deal of time preparing for the event. In this regard, we are proud to acknowledge Georgia Hay, Mylyn Dat, and Charmaine Graham for their outstanding (written) Roundtable Submissions. Congratulations also to Emma Watton, Mylyn Dat, and Xuefeng Shao for winning the best Pitch prizes!

We are indebted to the University of Queensland Business School for sponsoring and hosting the Doctoral Workshop. I would also like to express my gratitude to Kate Kearins, Anne Anderson, Remi Ayoko, and Andrei Lux for their peerless guidance and support. Events such as this one could not happen without your dedication – thank you.

My thanks again to all the workshop delegates for joining us in Brisbane, Australia; I hope that you have many positive memories of the event. Recognising that these young academics represent the future of our profession, ANZAM is committed to helping guide their professional development, ensuring that we as a community of Management scholars continue to support and encourage each other in these changing times.

We look forward to seeing you again next year in Melbourne, Australia.

Hieu Nguyen
Doctoral Student Representative, ANZAM Board of Directors

TEACHING RESOURCES

The ANZAM website has a number of teaching resources available, including winning case studies from our annual Case Writing Competition, and output from winners of our PELT (Promoting Excellence in Learning and Teaching) Grants.

As a resource for members only, you will be prompted to login when you visit the Teaching Resources web page.

THE CLASSIFIEDS

Events, Calls for Papers, Positions Vacant, Scholarships, Awards – and much more – are posted on the ANZAM website.

Free posting on the website is offered to all ANZAM Institutional Members - if you have something to share, contact the Academy Office. It will also be included in one of the regular ANZAM Update emails, and disseminated through LinkedIn, Twitter, and Facebook.

ANZAM ACADEMY OFFICE - CHRISTMAS CLOSURE

The ANZAM Academy Office will close on Thursday 23 December 2016, reopening on Monday 16 January 2017. No emails will be checked between 24 December and 8 January, however they will be monitored intermittently from 9 January.

On behalf of the ANZAM Board, I wish all members and their families a safe and happy Festive season.

Anne Anderson
Academy Manager
