

Call for Nominations of Papers and Books: 2023 Responsible Research in Management Award

Submission Deadline: January 31, 2023

Attention all researchers: The Academy of Management invites nominations (or self-nominations) for the 2023 Responsible Research in Management Award (RRMA) by January 31, 2023. The RRMA recognizes published research that yields credible results, guides practice, and benefits society. Empirical research published since 2019 is eligible for the 2023 award.

Since its founding in 2018, this award has assembled a canon of “responsible research” – 13 books and 70 articles that are academically credible, societally useful, and have helped to make the world a better place.

Although there are incessant calls for research that is relevant to practice, RRMA is the only award for socially valuable research whose selection signals affirmation by practicing executives that the study’s findings are actionable.

View the Call for Nominations here: 2023 Responsible Research in Management Award

Celebrate management research that moves the world.